A few VERY IMPORTANT rules before we start:

KASHRUT

- This list is informational. The Kashrut of each product is under the responsibility of the rabbinical authority that certifies/approves it. Not all the products listed here are on a Mehadrin level.
- If the list mentions that the product has to bear a kosher symbol or a specific production code/country of origin etc., this condition must be fulfilled for the product to be kosher.
- If a specific product is referenced as kosher, it does not mean that a different product of the same company is kosher as well.
- If a product is kosher abroad, it does not mean that it is kosher in Greece as well. Products may be produced in different factories with different first ingredients. (Example: Pringles not bearing a kosher symbol are not kosher. Ice cream with a design similar to Strauss in Israel is not kosher).
- In general, it is better to consume certified products, that are made under rabbinical supervision, than simply approved products.
- The mention "Approved" indicates that the product is Kosher according to general Kosher guidelines and other Kosher lists reviewed by Rabbi Mendel Hendel of Chabad of Athens.
- The mention "Checked and approved" indicates that the specific product was checked by Rabbi Mendel Hendel of Chabad of Athens or Rabbi Natan Hendel of Chabad of Athens' Suburbs.
- Make sure to use the updated kosher list. Check chabad.gr for updates.
- Products in this list are kosher for all year round and NOT for Passover.

HOW TO UNDERSTAND THE LIST

A few VERY IMPORTANT rules before we start:

PRACTICAL

- There are chains of super-markets that carry more imported products, therefore have more chances of carrying kosher products (with kosher symbols or approved by other rabbinates). Such chains are AB, Sklavenitis, Bazaar, My Market.
- A big store will have a wider variety of products than a small one, raising the possibility of finding kosher products. Please note that big chains also have smaller stores that don't carry all the variety of products they offer in their big stores.
- Supermarkets in the islands and in small remote places in Greece usually have a smaller variety of products.
- It might be practical to order online from a supermarket chain, as a large selection of products is available. (Make sure they ship to your location).
- Bio / Vegan sections in supermarkets and bio shops carry more imported products, therefore have a higher chance of carrying Kosher products (with Kosher symbols) that cannot be found in regular supermarkets.
- Many more kosher products are available at e-kosher.gr. Orders should be placed at least 3-5 days in advance and could be shipped to most locations in Greece. There's a physical store too, located at the Chabad House of Athens.
- A kosher catering service is available, shipping to most locations in Greece. Orders must be placed at least 3-5 days in advance through the website e-kosher.gr.

Requires certification. Often non-kosher wine vinegar is added to the brine.

Fresh and frozen kosher species of fish, either whole or filleted, are permitted provided that some skin (bearing easily detachable scales) is attached.

[The only exception is Salmon, which can be bought even without attached skin, because of its unique color.]

All minced fish, fish fingers and other products containing fish require Rabbinical supervision.

Please find attached a list of kosher fish that are common in Greece and their Greek names.
